

PRAYING FOR OUR MISSIONARIES

Praying for our workers in the field is one of the most crucial tasks of a sending church. Missionaries answer a call to bring the gospel through cultural barriers, light into dark places and hope to the hopeless. It can seem overwhelming to pray for these folks who are willing to sacrifice so much for the name of Jesus, but there are ways we can pray strategically for them and their ministries.

PROVISION

We can always pray in the Spirit that our missionaries would be provided for in their finances, their health and with a community of believers.

PEACE

“And let the peace of Christ rule in your hearts, to which indeed you were called in one body.” Colossians 3:15

Pray for spiritual peace, clarity and confidence in their calling.

PROTECTION

Pray for health in body and mind, protection over their family and protection and perseverance from attacks from the Enemy.

COMMUNITY

The number one reason missionaries leave the field early, is because of conflict with their team. Pray for Christian community to be present and God honoring. Pray against isolation and against preferences being stronger than bonding.

SCRIPTURE

The promises of Scripture are filled with hope about how day-to-day challenges lead to eternal results. You can never go wrong with praying Scripture over your missionaries and the communities they serve.
